Vigilant Launches SIM Co-Sourcing Offering

Recognizing a growing demand in the Enterprise Security market for 24x7 management and monitoring of Security Information Management (SIM) systems, Vigilant today announced the availability of its SIM Co-Sourcing offering. This unique Co-Sourcing approach is an important development in the managed services marketplace, as it fills an increasing gap between the services offered by standard Managed Security Service Providers (MSSPs) and the tailored SIM solutions that Fortune 1000 clients require. The combination of external regulations and increasingly stringent IT audits have forced information security teams to look beyond MSSPs in order to build SIM solutions that enable asset-centric monitoring. However, these same teams are often over-burdened by their operational security workload, and thus are looking to third parties to provide both 24x7 monitoring, system tuning and incident prioritization and response.

As a leading integrator of Security Information Management solutions and a partner to most of the top SIM vendors, Vigilant LLC is ideally suited to provide SIM Co-Sourcing services. Vigilant's security consulting team averages over a decade of experience in enterprise services, and has established a strong customer base in the financial services, global media and federal industry sectors.
